This Week

- The median list price in TAMPA, FL this week is $126,300. The 1061 properties have been on the market for an average of 201 days.

Inventory has been tightening and days-on-market decreasing recently. The Market Action Index has been basically flat, not providing strong indication for market conditions.

Supply and Demand

- The market has shown some evidence of slowing recently. Both prices and inventory levels are relatively unchanged in recent weeks. Watch the Market Action Index for changes as it can be a leading indicator for price changes.

Median Price

The market appears to be hovering around this plateau. This week prices eased down a bit. The Market Action Index is a good leading indicator for the durability of this shift.

Quartile Prices

Prices in most of the market have stabilized recently. Only Quartile 4 shows any price increases in the last few weeks. Often this condition happens in markets where demand has fallen (for example, due to micro-location variables) but supply is still relatively short. Buyers are focusing on the lowest price homes in the area.

Price per Square Foot

The market plateau is seen across the price and value. The price per square foot and median list price have both been reasonably stagnant. Watch the Market Action Index for persistent changes as a leading indicator before the market moves from these levels.

Inventory of Properties Listed for Sale

Inventory has been falling in recent weeks. Note that declining inventory alone does not signal a strengthening market. Look to the Market Action Index and Days on Market trends to gauge whether buyer interest is changing with the available supply.

Market Action Index

The TAMPA market is currently in the Buyer's Advantage zone (below 30), though not strongly so. The 90-day Market Action Index stands this week at 27.98 so buyers should expect to find reasonable levels of selection.

Market Action Index per Quartile

Three of the four quartiles of the market are in the Seller's Market zone with relatively low amounts of inventory given the current rate of demand for homes in the quartile. Notice that Quartile 1 (the highest-end price group) is showing weaker demand than the others. It's not uncommon that the premium segment of the market takes longer to sell than the rest of the group.

Residential house prices are a function of supply and demand, and market conditions can be characterized by analyzing those factors. Watch this index for sustained changes: if the index falls into the Buyer's Advantage zone (below 30) for a long period, prices are likely in for a downward correction.

Days on Market

The properties have been on the market for an average of 201 days. Half of the listings have come newly on the market in the past 119 or so days.

Days on Market per Quartile

It is not uncommon for the higher priced homes in an area to take longer to sell than those in the lower quartiles.

This Week

- The median list price in TAMPA, FL 33612 this week is $43,900. The 39 properties have been on the market for an average of 193 days.

Inventory has been lightening lately and the Market Action Index has been trending up. Though days-on-market is increasing, these are mildly positive indications for the market.

Supply and Demand

- In the last few weeks, the market has been at a stasis point in terms of sales to inventory. However, prices seem to continue to fall a bit. Technically supply levels indicate this is a Seller's market so it is likely that the downward pricing pressure will be light or variable. Watch for an up-shift in the MAI before price stability is achieved.

Median Price

This week prices in this zip code bumped up a bit but the trend of recent weeks is generally downward. Keep an eye on the Market Action Index for a leading indicator of the duration of this downtrend.

Quartile Prices

In the quartile market segments, we see the lower half of this zip code is showing slight pricing weakness, while the upper half of the market is slightly positive. Quartile 1 has been trending up recently, but unless we see a persistent up-shift in the Market Action Index, it will likely resume the trend of the rest of the market.

Price per Square Foot

The market's downward trends are shared across both price and value. People are recently placing less value on homes (you can see the recent declines in price per square foot as evidence.) Look for significant changes in the Market Action Index as a precursor to price and value changes, possibly as inflection points for good investment opportunities.

Inventory of Properties Listed for Sale

Inventory has been falling in recent weeks. Note that declining inventory alone does not signal a strengthening market. Look to the Market Action Index and Days on Market trends to gauge whether buyer interest is changing with the available supply.

Market Action Index

The TAMPA, 33612 market is currently in the Seller's Advantage zone (greater than 30). The 90-day Market Action Index stands at 37.21 which indicates that demand is strong and available supply of homes gets snapped up relatively quickly.

Market Action Index per Quartile

Not surprisingly, all segments in this zip code are showing high levels of demand. Watch the quartiles for changes before the whole market changes. Often one end of the market (e.g. the high-end) will weaken before the rest of the market and signal a slowdown for the whole group.

Residential house prices are a function of supply and demand, and market conditions can be characterized by analyzing those factors. Watch this index for sustained changes: if the index falls into the Buyer's Advantage zone (below 30) for a long period, prices are likely in for a downward correction.

Days on Market

The properties have been on the market for an average of 193 days. Half of the listings have come newly on the market in the past 154 or so days.

Days on Market per Quartile

It is not uncommon for the higher priced homes in an area to take longer to sell than those in the lower quartiles.
